@luchsherri

A self-taught artist, I find inspiration in color and line and naturally gravitate toward using a mix of inks, acrylics and collage to convey energy and joy. I am best known for bold landscapes, colorful flowers, graceful dancers and abstract images. Most recently, I have been reflecting on identity in my work, at times working with bits of newspaper and scratching layers to reveal what's underneath.

Donating my art has been a meaningful way for me to support local art organizations and important causes. My hope is that my journey helps to inspire others to find their hidden talents.
